Scout Unit Reviews Activities Council Elects Leaders

Stauben Area Boy Scout Council had its annual business meeting at the Tally Ho restaurant in Kanona Jan. 25. Robert E. Baldani of Corning was elected president and Robert W. Alsen of Painted Post was elected council commissioner for a second term. Baldani succeeds Wayne Platt, formerly of Hammondsport, as president.

Baldani had served as Council president in 1979 and has served as a vice-president since. He is director of operations at the Corning Glass Works Sullivan Park facility.

Alsen has been a district commissioner and a district chairman of the Andaste Trail District and is chairman of the Council Religious Relationships Committee. Involved in Scouting for more than 40 years, Alsen is retired from Corning Glass Works.

Vice Presidents elected are Harry C. Cohn of Bath, Exploring; Hugh L. Kline of Corning, Cub Scouting; John W. Loose of Corning, administration; W. Thomas Moore of Erwin, past-president; Fred M. Purdue of East Corning, finance; Jack W. Stumpf of Corning, Boy Scouting.

Floyd W. English, Jr. of Corning was reelected treasurer; William L. Cohn and Edward C. Galpin of Bath as assistant treasurers and John R. Bloise of Addison, legal counsel.

Newly elected to the Executive Board are Fred G. Dees of Hornell; Brian J. Eldridge of Corning; Edward C. Galpin of Bath; James W. Griffin of Arkport; Jon H. Shay of Dansville; Jack W. Stumpf of Corning and W. Neil Wrinkle of Bath.

Highlighting the evening's program was the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award, the highest a local council can present, to former Council president W. Thomas Moore. Moore has served on the Executive Board for six years, has been Council Sustaining Membership chairman and vice-president for finance. Moore's other community activity cited included service with Junior Achievement and the YMCA.

Baldani was presented the Silver Beaver Honor Bar in recognition of continued service since being presented the Silver Beaver in 1981.

The theme for the evening meeting was "Camp Gorton, Preparing for the Future," focusing on how Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers all utilize the facilities at the 280-acre layout around Waneta Lake. "The camping-outdoor program is but one of the ways scouting helps young people prepare for the future," said Baldani. The Council Long Range Plan also calls for significant renovations and improvements of the camp over the next few years, so the council is making plans for the future of Camp Gorton as well, he continued.

Highlighted accomplishments for the council in 1987 included: Qualified for recognition as a National Quality Council, second consecutive year.

Youth membership gain of one percent compared to 1986-seventh consecutive year.

Achieved enrollment of 30.8 percent of all eligible youths.

Improved advancement record for both Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Balanced operating budget.

Feasibility study for capital campaign conducted favorable recommendation.

Successful Distinguished Citizen Dinner netting $32,000 for Endowment.

A total of 57 percent of all units met the requirements for the National Quality Unit Award.

KITCHEN ASSISTANT — Dansville Cub Tim Nagle was provided an opportunity to flip pancakes at the annual Boy Scout breakfast hosted by Daniel Goho American Legion Post Sunday morning. Giving him a "lift" to carry out the task is Clyde Boyd, a veteran member of the Legion's kitchen committee which prepares the breakfast for all Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts here.

Swain News

BY MRS. JULIA WEAVER
PHONE 607-545-6843

A 40th anniversary celebration was held Friday, Jan. 15, at the Swain Ski Center. The ski slope has been in operation all these years. Dave and Bina Robinson were honored and presented a gift that day, as they were the ones who finally found a location for a ski slope. After looking and searching hills and valleys in many areas many years ago, finally they decided Swain would be the "Ideal Place". They spent many long hours as well as hard labor in putting the ski slope into operation back then.

A brunch lunch was served at noon and I heard over 2,300 people went through the lunch line, the price being $5.00 a person. There was over 3,000 people that attended the special celebration day.

The price of the tickets to ride the chair lift and ski from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. was $1.35—the same as it was 40 years ago. Rope tows were installed to ride to the top of the slopes (but not many tows) which was done by Dave and Bina and a few that were employed there. It sure wasn't like it is today, all chair lifts now, and snow making machines which have made lots and lots of snow this winter.

Dave and Bina really deserve being honored in some way after these 40 years of the ski business being in operation, they went through many winters of hardships for both then they had to wait for "Mother Nature's Snow" not like it is now. But if the Ski Slope didn't have the snow making machines and have all this cold weather, they couldn't be so prosperous either. For as you know, we have got very little snow so far this winter, but as I am writing this article of Feb. 4th, Mother Nature is making up for it as we have at least eight to 10 inches of snow already.

This correspondent wishes to congratulate Dave and Bina for all their accomplishments during their business years and lots of hard work as well.

They deserve a big medal in my way of thinking. "Swain" was named after some of my ancestors of which I am proud of.

Longtime Scout Executive Honored

A citizen and business leader, active in scouting since his youth, has been honored by the Boy Scout World Committee with its top award for World Service to Scouting.

Dr. Thomas C. MacAvoy, former president and chief operating officer of Corning Glass Works, was honored with the Bronze Wolf in Melbourne, Australia, during the World Scout Bureau Meeting. The meeting followed the XVI World Jamboree at Australia's Cataract Scout Park during which 15,000 Scouts attended from 84 different countries.

MacAvoy, a life long member of the Boy Scouts of America earned the Eagle as a youth. His association with Scouting continued as he served as vice-president of the Stauben Area Council, president of the North East Region, and as president of the Boy Scouts of America 1980-82. MacAvoy has been a member of the National Executive Board since 1977.

MacAvoy's long standing interest in International Scouting is exemplified through his service as chairman of the BSA's International Committee. He is the immediate past president of the United States Foundation for International Scouting. The foundation provides for the Scouting programs in less-developed countries including Scouting for the handicapped.

The Bronze Wolf is the only International Scout award to individuals presented by the World Committee.

Scouts Set Plans For Village Project

Dansville Boy Scouts are again looking forward to taking part in a special spring project.

Members from all troops and their leaders will join with Girl Scouts and the Rotary Club in Environment Day activities scheduled Apr. 30.

As in the past, groups will spend the day cleaning along highways leading into Dansville. In addition, clean-up projects are planned for Main Street and Babcock Park. Also on the agenda is clean-up and plantings in flower gardens at the entrance to Babcock Park and on the RaPidGro Corp. property at the intersection of Ossian and Dock Streets.

Organizers are making plans for new projects and seek input from all residents. Those with an idea for Environment Day are urged to contact John Rauber or Pauline Halbert.
